

The 2008 Bank of America Open

Charitable Match Play

Making your annual or first time charitable contribution to your favorite charity? Let the Bank of America Open, a PGA Tour sanctioned tournament on the Nationwide Tour, take your charitable gift the extra distance.

The Bank of America Open, formerly the LaSalle Bank Open, held annually at The Glen Club in Glenview, Illinois, will match charitable contributions with tournament general admission tickets and exclusive Bank of America Open hospitality passes to the benefiting charity.

Matching contributions: March 1, 2008 – May 15, 2008
Tournament dates: May 29, 2008 – June 1, 2008

What: The charity would receive your entire monetary contribution and the Bank of America Open would match the gift with tickets to the tournament. The charity will receive one (1) free general admission pass to the 2008 Bank of America Open for every $10 donated. (Limit 100 tickets) Each charitable contribution of $1000 and above will be matched with an additional four (4) Bank of America Open tournament hospitality passes.

How: Contact Bank of America Open charity coordinator, David Dakoske, to learn how to route charitable contributions and matching endorsements.
